This ebook can be worthy of a read, and much better than other. I have read and i am certain that i am going to planning to go through again once again in the future. You may like just how the writer compose this book.

Its explosive force is not much greater than that of gunpowder, but it is much more sudden in its action. The readiness with which it is fired makes it an excellent agent for exploding other substances, and this gives it its value. It is used in percussion caps, primers, and fuzes--not pure, but mixed with nitre, mealed powder, and other substances, because it is necessary to moderate its explosive property, since it is otherwise too rapid and violent for the purpose. It is sometimes mixed with chlorate or nitrate of potash, and ground glass is often added to increase the sensibility of the mixture to explosion by percussion. Fulminate of Silver is prepared by a process similar to that for fulminate of mercury, but as its explosive qualities are far more violent it is advisable to prepare it only in minute quantities. When dry it must be handled with the greatest caution. Nothing harder than paper should be used in manipulating it, or for wrappers. It is exploded in the same way as fulminate of mercury, but is of no practical value on account of its sensitiveness. Picric Acid and Picrates, Picric Powder.--Picric, or tri-nitrophenic acid, is another nitro-substitution compound.
